Ratepayers grill election candidates

Ratepayers of Anson, Hindon and Minden got their first, and probably only, chance to meet with all the 1985 municipal election candidates Saturday evening. The "meet the candidate" night, sponsored by the municipality, was held at Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

Over 150 were in attendance as the nine municipal candidates addressed the crowd for four minutes each, then fielded questions from the audience. The evening lasted two and a half hours and, while many aspects of the community politics and policies were touched on, there were few points of serious confrontation.

Jim Garbutt, serving in a familiar role, was master of ceremonies for the evening.

The first speaker to the podium was Councillor Gary Kenney, candidate for the post of reeve. He reviewed his business background and experience, acquired before moving to the Highlands where he operates a log home building and related mail order business.

Kenney noted he had been active in the community outside of his council responsibilities, mentioning the annual Sled Dog Derby, Canada Day celebration and last summer's Ride For Sight.

"I tend to be frank when I speak about a subject," Kenney said. "I believe you should say what you believe and believe what you say. Some people may not be comfortable with that approval, and I may have to change it somewhat, but it will be the basis of my term in office."

The candidate said he would run an open municipal council and that he was enthusiastic about the future for the municipality. "I thrive on new responsibilities and challenges," he said. Kenney also pointed out that his decision to seek the office as reeve, "was not a last minute decision."

"My commitment is the best for the townships," he concluded.

Former reeve and county Warden, Sinc Nesbitt, was the next to address the meeting. He told the gathering, "I'm not here to make promises I can't keep."

Nesbitt spent a large part of his speech discussing the condition of township roads. He said that cottagers don't get much more for their taxes than the road to their property. He noted that cottagers represent an important part of the local economy and their objections in the past, that they have been neglected, is in fact true. "All they ask for is a decent road," he said.

The candidate suggested that one way municipal roads could be improved would be to have some transferred to the county system. He pointed out that he was a member of county council when the road system was established. Nesbitt told the meeting that he had secured promises from county councillors that they would help him get some of the roads accepted into the county system.

He said if municipal property was to be offered for sale, adjacent property owners should be notified, a reference to the current dispute on Soyars Lake.

Nesbitt said Minden offered an ideal retirement community and told the meeting he, as reeve in Stanhope Township, a number of years ago, first proposed what has recently evolved into the Staunworth Court Senior Citizens apartment complex. He said that seniors who live at home, "must be protected from high municipal costs."

Deputy-Reeve

The deputy-reeve candidate to speak was Brendan Berube. He told the gathering he had moved to Minden in 1981 after residing in a number of northern Ontario communities. Berube is a planner with the Ministry of Natural Resources and through his work has had a great deal of contact with municipal problems.

Explaining his interest in the deputy-reeve's post, Berube said, "It is a position in which I feel I can do the most for you and an area which needs to be changed the most."

Berube promised the voters commitment, openness and accountability. He told the audience, "Too many times in the past decisions have been made with too little information. I

Snowdon, Glamorgan will vote for council seats

Two Haliburton County townships which appeared to be approaching the November 12 municipal elections returning all candidates by acclamation or with too few candidates to fill all the seats available, now find themselves in the middle of an election campaign.

In the first instance, the number of nominations for the positions of councillor in Snowdon Township fell short by one. As of the deadline Monday (October 21) at 5 p.m., two candidates, Jack Hills and Ron Burk had declared their intentions. Since there were three vacancies to be filled and only two candidates, the municipal clerk extended the period for accepting nominations to Wednesday at 5 p.m.

The waiting appeared to be worth it as three other citizens stepped forward. Bill Powell, Doris Robertson and Keith Schraeder filed nomination papers with the clerk.

Since the three had filed after the first deadline, they will be in a contest for the remaining vacancy. Hills and Burk who had filed on time, were acclaimed to the two seats.

A similar situation arose in Glamorgan Township. Two candidates, Len Madill and Sharon Traviss were acclaimed to office since they had filed for the position of councillor prior to the Monday deadline. However, two candidates filed with the clerk during the special extension, necessitating an election, between the two for the final seat at the council table.

Interesting in all other races in the two municipalities, candidates were acclaimed to the offices they sought. If only one other person had stepped forward for the position of councillor, both Snowdon and Glamorgan townships would have gone through the 1985 municipal election without casting a ballot.

Petition endorses boat ramp

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has found itself caught in the middle of a dispute over a public boat launching site on Brady's Lake.

During the past term, council has been approached on several occasions with the request that the municipality owned boat ramp located on the south shore of the lake be closed to the public. The Brady's Lake Cottager's Association supports the closure because of problems created by limited parking space and complaints about noise and traffic.

The association contends a second ramp on the lake owned by the Ministry of Natural Resources provides enough public access to the lake. There have also been suggestions that the municipality construct a new ramp on the concession allowance at the north end of the lake.

The Planning Advisory Committee and the Community Services Coordinator have recommended the ramp be retained. Their recommendations have been supported in a petition to the municipality that was read at the regular meeting of council on October 24.

The petition bearing 25 signatures of property owners on the lake, requests the ramp remain open and asks the municipality to improve the site by creating more parking space and installing waste containers and park benches.

Although council members have indicated in the past they would like to resolve the issue before the end of their term, they made no decision at the Thursday meeting, save to recommend the cottager's association be notified of the petition.

Youth charged after cottages hit by thieves

A number of juveniles from the Haliburton Village and West Guilford area have been charged with a series of break-ins which occurred recently. The 12 break-ins in the County Road One and Birch Narrows area, involved seasonal residences.

Taken in the incidents was a quantity of liquor and a large number of various household items. The intruders gained access to the cottages by breaking a window. According to the police some of the missing property has been recovered.

The youths involved in the incident were aged 13 to 17 years.

Constables Ben Mangue, Ken Wesley and Brian Ladurantaye are the investigating officers.

Cottage break-in

A Canning Lake cottage was the target of thieves sometime during the past three weeks. Taken in the incident was a snowmobile trailer, a Honda motorcycle, windsurfer, colour television, chain saw and power tools.

Constable Barry Connelly is the investigating officer.

Break-in

A business on the Robertson Sideroad in Haliburton Village was broken into recently and a number of firearms removed from the premises.

According to the police, the break-in at Madill Plumbing and Heating occurred sometime during the past two weeks. Taken were three rifles and two shotguns.

Constable Brian Dunham is the investigating officer.

Hungry hunter

A man has been charged with assault causing bodily harm after he chewed on the thumb of another member of the hunting party.

The incident occurred after a number of moose hunters had left their camp in Havelock Township and travelled to Haliburton Village. On the return trip, a dispute broke out in the car between two of the nimrods. During the altercation, the thumb of one of the combatants was chewed severely enough to require hospital treatment.

Charged with assault is 31 year old Lorne Johnston of Stouffville.

Constable Dave MacMartin is the investigating officer.

Accident

An effort to avoid a collision with another vehicle resulted in over $6500 in damages to a car driven by a Dysart woman.

According to the police, Sheila May Finlay, 40, was driving her 1979 model Chrysler on the Old Buckhorn Road. As she crested a hill, she observed a pick-up truck backing out of a private driveway into her lane.

The truck continued across the road, however, Finlay steered her vehicle to the right where it struck a hydro pole and a tree.

Damage to the car was estimated at $4500 with an additional $2000 damage to the pole.

The driver and passenger, 13 year old Colin Finlay, were treated at Haliburton Hospital for minor injuries.

Constable Brian Dunham is the investigating officer.

Stanhope candidates meet the voters

The past record of Council members, a proposed trailer park on Halls Lake and the development of the Stanhope Airport, were the main topics of discussion at the all candidates meeting held at the Stanhope Firefighters Hall on Saturday evening.

Despite a conflict with the sixth game in the World Series and the Awards ceremony at HHSS, over 110 ratepayers turned out to hear the candidates for municipal council and the board of education deliver speeches and answer questions.

The ratepayers were also presented with an information sheet provided by four ratepayers' associations outlining the candidate's backgrounds, their political experience and their stand on various issues. Speaking in the order they will appear on the ballot, the candidates were allowed up to five minutes to address the voters, then after a short intermission the question and answer period continued for nearly an hour and a half.

In acknowledging his acclamation as trustee, Leroy Eager thanked the ratepayers for their past support and promised to continue serving the interests of the township on the Board of Education.

Harry Davis, the incumbent reeve, was the first of three candidates for the office to speak. He thanked his fellow council members, committee members and the municipal employees for their cooperation and help over the past term.

Noting the township has lost one trustee to Dysart et al, Davis said he had made a concerted effort at County Council to retain two seats but had been out-voted by other members.

After reviewing the accomplishments of Council over the past term, Davis said he would continue, if re-elected, to serve the interests of the electorate and emphasised his commitment to obtaining provincial and federal grants for local work projects.

Stinging attack

Then in what turned out to be the hardest hitting comments by any candidate that evening, Davis launched a direct attack on Elgin Stouffer, the deputy-reeve for the past two terms, who is running for the position of reeve for the first time.

"The job of reeve of any municipality is becoming more involved and this person must be available on almost a daily basis," he said. "I have been in our office almost every day (during my term) and have been just as prompt in attending meetings," he said, noting he had missed only one council meeting in the past eleven years.

He questioned whether Stouffer could cope with the duties of the office, pointing out he had missed three meetings over a period of one month.

Davis also criticised Stouffer's decision to submit nomination papers for each of the three positions (councillor, deputy-reeve and reeve) then withdraw two forms at the last minute.

Davis described the procedure as self-serving, misleading and "a ploy designed to create the illusion with the electorate that there were not enough changes in the candidates," to warrant seasonal residents driving to the township to vote.

He said Stouffer had notified the cottager's associations at a meeting in September that he was running for the position of deputy-reeve and that the associations had informed their members accordingly in newsletters mailed before the close of nominations.

This tactic was designed to keep the seasonal vote to a minimum, Davis said, and described the decision as "skull duggery" and an example of indecisiveness.

In her address to the near capacity audience Penny Gough said she has been active in the Emergency Measures Organization over the past 23 years and has served on the municipality's recreation committee and at many functions at the community centre.

She wants to continue serving the interests of the ratepayers through the office of reeve, she said, emphasising her commitment to seeking investment in the local economy to stimulate year round employment and promised to work diligently for the area to fight acid rain and pollution.

Among the programs she would consider would be the establishment of recycling depots, she said.

To encourage dialogue with the ratepayers, she said she would set aside a day and an evening to discuss issues with constituents.

The third candidate for reeve, Elgin Stouffer, spoke from a prepared text and made no reference to Davis' criticisms but he did address the issues later in the meeting.

Stouffer said he supported the concept of controlled, orderly growth in the township arguing that contrary to many of the fears expressed by seasonal residents that property values will be eroded, "the most saleable, highly valued properties continue to be in the areas where there is the most activity."

Looking at his past record as councillor and deputy-reeve, Stouffer said he has worked hard to ensure the roads system has been maintained while ensuring township taxes are competitive with other municipalities, has served on several committees of County Council, has promoted the off season activities offered by the county and has been very active in the field of forest management.

If elected he will continue to encourage the upgrading of forest reserves predicting it could increase the market tenfold.

Addressing the problem of water quality, Stouffer said he would request the Ministry of Environment conduct dye tests on sewage systems on all lakefront property in the township, if possible. Such tests would embarrass delinquent people into upgrading their facilities by revealing leakage into the lakes, he said.

If the ministry will not conduct the tests he would have the municipal staff carry out the program arguing, "we will reap benefits worth much more than the costs."

In concluding his address he thanked Council and the municipal staff for their co-operation and assistance over the past term.

Two for deputy-reeve

The decision by Elgin Stouffer to run for the office of reeve has left two candidates who are presently serving as councillors in the race for deputy-reeve.

The senior member of council, Elvin Johnson, has extensive experience in public service beginning in the 1940's when he served on the Stanhope Telephone system. Johnson told his audience he still enjoys his duties on council and on the committees he served on and continues to find the position interesting.

Citing his work on the Recreation Committee, Johnson said if elected he will continue to improve the recreation and parks facilities in the township.

Noting he and Jim Elder had passed the motion that initiated the formation of the Stanhope Fire Department, Johnson said he favours the purchase of the new equipment for the department including air packs and a mini-pumper.

Turning to the issue of the airport development, Johnson said he favours upgrading the facility to create a safe year round airport, arguing the improvements will prove beneficial to the area by bringing in more visitors.

Noting he had missed only four meetings during

Cottage destroyed

An early afternoon fire destroyed a cottage on Hall's Lake owned by R.E. Giroux on Wednesday.

According to Stanhope fire chief Bob Nangle, a tenant at the cottage, Paul O'Brien returned to the residence shortly after 1 p.m. to find the building in flames.

Nine members of the Stanhope Volunteer fire department responded to a call at 1:20, but by the time they arrived, the building had collapsed.

The firemen were able to prevent the spread of the fire to a boathouse on the property and a neighbouring cottage.

Damage to the building was estimated at $25,000. The boathouse suffered some structural damage.

Damage to the neighbour's cottage was approximately $2,000.

Cause of the fire is unknown. No one was injured in the blaze.

You are the key

As we draw closer to the municipal election date, voters in at least two municipalities on the western side of the county are coming to realize what a full-blown campaign is all about. In both the municipalities of Anson, Hindon and Minden and Stanhope, candidates are vying for position in all the board of education races.

Ratepayers in both municipalities were treated to an interesting and lively exchange of ideas and points of view at their respective all candidates nights. Both meetings provided excellent forums for the candidates to present their platform and to appeal to the constituents for support. Judging by the attendance, 110 in Stanhope, over 160 in Minden, the citizens are eager to hear what the hopefuls have to say and to challenge their positions. Indeed, that give and take continues in the letters to the editor column in today's newspaper.

The residents of these two municipalities are fortunate. They have an opportunity to influence the direction of their municipal government - a chance to let those who seek to exercise a powerful influence over their lives know that they are the source from which that power must spring.

No matter who is victorious when the ballots are counted November 12, the voters will be the real winners.

Speak out

In addition to providing information about the community we serve, an important duty of this newspaper is to comment on issues of the day. We invite our readers to speak out as well, on matters they feel need airing.

Letters to the editor attract high readership, offer differing points of view on issues of importance and offer the opportunity for a free exchange of ideas, a vital part of a democratic society. This newspaper will always respect the right of citizens to be heard, within limits dictated by legal restrictions and good taste. We ask that writers be willing to allow their names to appear with their letters.

12 Mile morning

Editor:

I know several people who come up to Minden and area for the week between Christmas and New Years, who complain to me about the lack of snow on the shoulder of the township roads. If the shoulder has no snow, they cannot get to the trails. If they use the bare shoulders, it causes unnecessary wear to the wear bars and to the slider on newer machines and are costly to replace. Some of these people say they will just stop coming up so often if there is not going to be sufficient snow left on the shoulders. This lack of snow is evident in Anson, Hindon and Minden.

Back in 1973 there was a write-up in the Toronto Star where a number of businesses in Muskoka in an interview, stated that prior to the arrival of the snowmobile, they would close down January and February each year, but now stayed open all winter and even hired staff for weekends between Christmas and New Years.

I have a friend who has driven a snow plough for 30 years and he says the wing can be set any height. For the people who want the shoulder clean, it doesn't have to be a lot of snow left on, just a sensible amount and that will not interfere with the odd car driver who has to get off the road.

I have sat on my machine and watched the plough leaving and entering the municipal yard and watched the sparks flying as they scraped so low.

Three of my friends leave their machines in my yard and trailer them to a trail so as not to run them on the bare shoulder. This is an unnecessary bother and expense.

Since this is election time, I say to the Reeve and council members that we snowmobilers vote. Leave the pavement for cars and the edge for snowmobilers. Gordon Hamilton, Minden.

Editor:

We would like to inform you that we are indebted and extremely thankful for the volunteers of the Stanhope Fire Department and Mary and Bob Baker of Hawk Road Services, when the unfortunate fire demolished the Giroux cottage next door to ours on Hall's Lake.

Had Mrs. O'Brien not told Mary that their daughter's cottage was flattened, had Mary not quickly called the fire department, had the many volunteers not left their work so promptly, we would not be looking at only one charred wall, because, it seems, we were "minutes" away from being totally engulfed in flames.

We are truly grateful to Mary, Bob and all the men in the fire department who responded so promptly on our behalf. It is a wonderful feeling to know we are in the midst of so many people who care.

Bob, Gayle, Kim and Rob McConnell.

Editor:

It was a heartwarming experience to see Mr. Lyle McKnight address the electorate at the all-candidates meeting on October 26. The standing ovation he received was a fitting tribute for his years of service.

It is just unfortunate that any one of the present council members did not have the good graces to lead the crowd in this well-deserved tribute. Mr. S.G. Nesbitt had to lead you.

It is my opinion that this is the least that any one of you could have done. In an era of projects that are never completed, foolish spending, lame duck excuses, employee castigation publicly and Chamber of Commerce bashing, etc., I guess one can expect little else. Giving some one else the heat to cover one's own ineptitude is undoubtedly the new modus operandi.

Why don't I stand for

office instead of just criticizing? I'm simply not qualified, nor do I have the time and I have the courage to admit it. Every success to Lyle McKnight and those who are willing to try to give us better government.

Gordon A. Monk, Minden.

Editor:

I was disappointed to read that one candidate for the Board of Education in the Minden area had withdrawn to allow two other candidates to attain office by acclamation. By doing so we are deprived of learning more about our candidates, their qualifications, what they stand for, etc. More important, we will now not have a choice. However, since we must accept the election procedures, we can only hope that our new trustees will represent the ratepayers honestly and fairly.

There are a number of concerns that I personally have regarding the Board's expenditures that I hope the new trustees will address.

Firstly, the Board's budget has increased approximately 150% in the last ten (10) years. Haliburton County Board of Education has almost the highest, if not the highest, per pupil costs of all Boards in the province. Why? How many people in this community have enjoyed an increase of 15% per year for the last ten (10) years?

Secondly, the enrolment has been reduced by approximately one third in the past ten (10) years. However, the total teaching and administrative staff is higher now than it was ten (10) years ago.

What is being done to reduce the number of classrooms in line with declining enrolments?

The Board hired a curriculum coordinator this year. Was this really necessary? Many of the larger

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Ontario desperately needs a state-of-the-art facility for treatment and disposal of hazardous wastes. The recently-announced selection of a preferred site for this facility is an important step toward that goal. For, the longer Ontario is without such a facility, the more we are - and will be - exposed to hazardous wastes.

Every one of us - men, women, children, birds and fish - lives, breathes, drinks and moves about in a huge chemical soup. The basic broth has been there since time immemorial, providing the very sustenance for life. But, over the past two centuries, or so, "we" (society) have begun to add vast numbers and quantities of chemicals to that soup.

It has been estimated that perhaps 500 'new' chemicals are added to our technological repertoire each year. And this doesn't include the progressive - in some cases, exponential - increase in quantities of already-used chemicals.

Together, they constitute an enormous load of, ultimately, waste which must be disposed. Many of our more responsible waste generators do their utmost to ensure safe disposal. Others do not.

Either way, so long as comprehensive, state-of-the-art facilities are unavailable, wastes will continue to go somewhere. Some find their way into ordinary dumps. There are delightful stories around Ontario of 'magic ponds', that have been filled over and over with liquid industrial wastes which simply disappeared into the ground - presumably into sand and gravel aquifers, to resurface one day in wells or springs. Other waste finds its way into insecure landfills, sometimes on the sides of valleys, or onto gravel roads - along with waste oil used to keep down dust. Or it's surreptitiously dumped - onto roads or fallow land, and into streams or lakes.

think the public should know what is going on." He also said that he would want to hear from the electors even after the election. "The only time members of council are accountable to you is at election time. I think Councils must respond to the desires of a majority view of ratepayers."

The candidate concluded his comments by saying, "I feel I can do a much better job than what you have been experiencing in the past."

Incumbent candidate, deputy-reeve Ed Pergolas told the audience that his platform was no different from three years ago. He said he would continue to follow zero budgetting and pointed out that municipal taxes have not increased more than the cost of living over the past three years.

Pergolas said he wanted to make the municipality a viable retirement community and pointed to the recent opening of the Staunworth Court Senior Citizens apartment complex as an example of growth in that direction. He noted that the project was carried out with the cooperation of the councils in Stanhope and Lutterworth townships.

Pergolas told the meeting that work is already underway to secure funding for another apartment complex.

The candidate said the municipality is in need of new housing stock and that this additional housing would help offset the cost of the sewer system.

Pergolas ended his speech by commenting, "I believe I have been an asset to this municipality through my service on council."

Councillors

Five candidates are seeking the three seats on the municipal council. They were introduced to the audience in alphabetical order.

Bern Berry, a former sergeant with the Metro Toronto Police Department, was the first to speak. He outlined his work and education history, noting he and his wife became permanent residents recently following his retirement. They live on Minden Lake, where they have owned property for 11 years.

The candidate noted that he was currently president of the Minden Lake Ratepayers Association and that in anticipation of the election this fall, he had been attending a course offered by Sir Sanford Fleming College on municipal government. He has also been attending council meetings on a regular basis since the summer.

Berry told the meeting that he is involved in a number of local recreational organizations and would like to see improvements to recreation.

Noting that he was retired, "not wealthy but comfortable," and that taxes have gone up 11%, Berry said, "I can't afford to stay here if the taxes continue to increase."

The candidate concluded by saying he had the time to be a "full-time councillor".

Setting aside her prepared speech, incumbent councillor Pat Burk said she did not have a big platform to present to the voters. She noted that she entered council three years ago lacking experience and background. "In those three years I've learned a great deal. Now I want a chance to put those things into action."

Burk told the meeting that she was excited to be on the municipality's planning committee and to have assisted with the preparation of the Official Plan and revision of the comprehensive zoning bylaw. She praised ratepayers for becoming involved in the planning process by attending the October 17 zoning bylaw meeting to express their feelings. "We need your participation," she told the audience.

The candidate also noted that the November vote would include a plebiscite regarding the ward system. She outlined a number of possible outcomes if the idea is endorsed. "The choice is yours," she told the meeting.

Vern Graham, a native and recently returned resident of Minden was the next speaker. He outlined his employment history including an 18 year period as a federal civil servant. He also pointed out that since returning he had become involved in a number of local organizations including the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, the Horticultural Society, St. Paul's Anglican Church and the municipal committee examining the preservation of historical structures in the townships.

Graham said he wanted to be part of a "happy, co-operative community which shows concerns for all its citizens."

He said he did not favour the ward system.

The candidate said he was tired of what he described as the "wheeling and dealing in real estate which has been going on too long". Graham said the sale of municipal property must end, particularly those pieces of land which provide public access to area lakes. Noting that most people travel to Twelve Mile Lake to enjoy a public beach, and asked where individuals would go to gain access to the other lakes in the municipality, listing each one by name.

The candidate also said there was a need for greater control of municipal funds.

He suggested that funds should be spent as required with the need for any large expenditure to be justified before being approved.

The present reeve, and candidate for council, Lyle McKnight, was the next speaker at the podium.

"Three years ago I stood before you to seek the office of reeve, however, since then fate has intervened," Mr. McKnight said. He was referring to a stroke earlier this year which has affected his mobility. "I feel in all fairness that more capable people should head the council," he told the meeting.

However, the Blairhampton native noted he was still willing to serve his community. "I offer you my experience," he told the gathering.

Looking back on his term as reeve he told the meeting. "Three years ago I promised an Official Plan for the municipality, and it is in place. I promised a Planning Commission and it is in place and I promised revision of the township's zoning bylaw and it is coming along fine." He noted that the delay on the zoning bylaw is related to the details surrounding the flood plain areas.

McKnight said he agreed that good rapport is needed with cottage associations and suggested that communications had not been the best in the past.

He told the meeting that good morale was needed among municipal employees "...these people don't need any excuses made for them," McKnight said, "a happy workforce is a good workforce."

McKnight said the municipality needed an industrial park and the council should make an effort to encourage commercial development. He said effort was needed to keep our young people in the area by providing jobs for them.

As his speech ended the audience and fellow candidates rose to give Mr. McKnight a standing ovation. It was as much a recognition of the contributions he has made to the community over the years, as a tribute to the man's tenacity.

The final speaker was councillor candidate Bob Sisson. He told the audience he had no promises to offer, only to provide fair and honest representation. He said the municipal council needed newer representatives, individuals who were concerned about the future.

Sisson said that as a working man, he felt he could bring a new perspective and insight to the council table.

"If you don't agree with decisions made in the past, then get involved. That's why I'm here tonight." With that, presentations from the municipal candidates concluded.

It was noted that since both board of education seats had been filled by acclamation that the two representatives, John Cooper and Wendy Ladurantaye, would not address the meeting. Mrs. Ladurantaye was in attendance.

Question and answer period

The question and answer period covered a broad range of topics of interest to residents of the municipality. From concerns of general policy to specific individual problems, the present members of council and newcomers offered their opinions.

The first to pose a question was Minden merchant Gord Monk. He asked councillor Gary Kenney to explain why all the sidewalks in the Business Improvement Area had been replaced in the last few years, except those in front of his own business. Monk said that some 200,000 individuals visited his funeral home each year.

Kenney said the delay was a result this year of the possibility of the road being taken into the county system. He said the roadbed needed to be repaired and it was felt that this work should be carried out before the sidewalk was repaired. Kenney also noted that Mr. Monk was offered the opportunity to share in the cost of the sidewalk replacement just in front of his business if he wanted the work done right away. He noted the offer was still available.

Candidate for reeve, Sinc Nesbitt said that the council was aware six months ago that the county was not about to take over the road. He said that no matter who is responsible for the roadbed, it will always be in the same location, implying that the sidewalk repairs should be carried out. He suggested the council had erred in building sidewalks throughout and outside the BIA area while ignoring the portion in front of the funeral home.

Deputy reeve Ed Pergolas was asked where community groups would be able to hold their fund raising sales when the for Welch property, referred to as the "Village Green" is used for the proposed LEAD building.

Pergolas suggested there was space on the other side of the bank, next to the telephone booths. He pointed out that the council developed the area into a park-like setting, but had also received complaints that the commercial land was not being developed.

The questioner suggested the open space should remain since there wasn't enough "nice parks" in the community.

Councillor Pat Burk was asked to explain why she had not voted in favour of the municipality's proposal for the locating of the Kanawa Canoe Museum in this municipality. The questioner suggested that Mrs. Burk had been in attendance at a Haliburton County Historical Board meeting several years ago when the location was decided, but she, as a member of council at that time, had failed to vote in favour of the municipality's choice.

Mrs. Burk responded by saying she was unable to recall the incident. "I was much in favour of the proposal," she told the audience. "I didn't have a reason for not voting in favour of the Minden proposal."

Services for youngsters in the community were also explored, particularly the need for playground facilities.

Councillor Gary Kenney said he was not pleased with the present playground set up adjacent to the municipal office. He said the community needed a playground in the downtown area where parents could leave youngsters while they shop. He said that was one reason he had sponsored the participation of the CHACE Place portion of the LEAD building in downtown Minden. Stating that it would be the first of its kind in the province, he said the facility would include a playground similar to the adventure playground model which the municipality has had in its possession for a number of years.

Referring back to a previous question, Sinc Nesbitt asked, if the building and playground occupies the Welch property, where do the fund raising groups Boards with greater resources have developed excellent programs that are available to Haliburton. Why reinvent the wheel?

Thirdly, the Board has added $100,000 to their budget in 1985 as reserve for working funds. This is not a requirement of the Ministry of Education as some would like you to believe. Furthermore, it is not necessary since Boards receive their funds on an over/under requisition basis. Now that the amount is available it should be used as a stabilization fund to prevent wide swings in the tax rate.

Fourthly, why have transportation costs gone up so drastically? Does the Board call for tenders? Have they looked at alternatives, ownership versus contracting out?

Fifthly, does the Board call for tenders on all items of supply and maintenance?

I understand that we have an excellent teaching staff and I find no fault with the quality of education. However, academic administration appears high for the number of students served.

Editor:

The following questions were for the all candidates meeting last Saturday evening, but owing to a limit of time, I feel I have to publish the balance of them.

People may think, why am I doing this? I personally will not, or cannot stand by and see men who worked for me as a road superintendent for 17 years, tramped down by a council, as I have proven, with little experience.

I must congratulate the reeve on keeping his usual disposition working with a council like this.

These are the questions I feel the candidates should be answering:

- Mr. Kenney mentioned the new sidewalks this council has had placed since being in council. He didn't mention that there is nowhere the water can get off the road at the one to the hospital until it gets to a driveway at the fruit market.

- The one from the library to Minden is the same, but the low spot in the road it causes a flood - across the road - flooding the sidewalk on the west side.

- The main street the sidewalks were widened and instead of new sewers being put in - they were built on top of the old sewer pipe.

- The new sidewalk was done at the Post Office and a main starting point for a survey was near the old sidewalk, but no sign of it since the new one was put in, I wonder what the Postal Department will be thinking.

- It's a good job the council has seen fit to have the entrance signs to Minden left as they were.

- Has the MTC changed the colour from the standard they set years ago as I see a different colour on some of Minden's road signs?

- How come your council hires snow plowing done and leaves your own truck sitting idle - then hires a man and lays your own man off, was it at a cheaper rate of pay? Or maybe, an increase in pay?

- Are you replacing trucks and loaders or trying to get to the stage of hiring all equipment? Some of it over 12 years in service.

- I would like to know if the increase in dog licences brought in more money since it was raised to the present level or what percentage is increased on the 100% raise in licence fees.

- Of course we still have the same old answer on the old sidewalk from Minden to the school - it's a problem - is the answer only the Deputy Reeve says it's O.K. as he claims to walk it every day, perhaps his eyesight is poor and he cannot see the conditions as I am sure around the funeral home there is more traffic than the new one - or any other sidewalk.

- We also see the portable buildings are still to be moved - we apparently lost one - but sure didn't the other one as it sits in the fair grounds on display.

- Years ago the councils saw fit to get entrances to lakes or by getting a lot off each subdivision to the lake. What has become of the money, as I understand this council is selling them?

And the effects are by no means localized. PCBs, used widely as an ostensibly-contained coolant in transformers and other electrical components provides an excellent example. In the absence of suitable disposal facilities, provincial law requires indefinite storage of askorols and other high-level PCB wastes. The result is a rag-tag collection of barrels, drums and transformers - some of them doubtless leaking - stored thither and yon throughout the province.

PCBs don't quickly decompose, and if incompletely destroyed by too-low combustion temperatures, produce even more insidious byproducts. Unlike many other chemicals, PCBs are mobile in the environment, volatilized to be carried by the wind, borne in water, and accumulated through the food chain. Not surprisingly, PCBs are in Arctic polar bears, Antarctic penguins, and almost every living thing - including you and I - in between. Yet, PCBs are but a few of hundreds of such wastes; the checklist for known chemicals in the Great Lakes approaches 400.

The result is that we are all part of a huge statistical experiment in to the combined effects of myriad chemicals upon the residents of that chemical soup.

The commissioning of that state-of-the-art disposal facility won't be a panacea. But it will be a major step in the right direction. It will sharply reduce the wastes reaching the soup. It will provide the best treatment available. And it will ensure that wastes ultimately land-filled are not placed into giant sieves - like Love Canal and the other now-leaking Niagara dumps - but rather in secure, impervious vaults.

Predictably, nobody wants such a facility near them. They worry about spills, emissions and transportation accidents. But the facility must go somewhere. And the right place must, surely, be based not on political unpopularity but upon ensuring that it is the most secure facility - that with the best soils, contained drainage, the least likelihood of accident and the best technology.

These are the reasons why the Federation of Ontario Naturalists pressed for government initiative in establishing hazardous waste disposal facilities. And it is for the same reason that the care and diligence being exercised to site and design the facility, must be continued with utmost haste.

The soup - in our interest, and that of the future generations - must be simplified.

find a place to hold their sales. Nesbitt suggested the playground use the expanded area to the east of its present location and that the municipality attempt to find additional parking spaces across the street from the municipal office.

Kenney interjected that the architect's plans for the LEAD structure did include green space which could accommodate the needs of the fund raising groups on the community's main street.

A questioner suggested that the stand taken by Sinc Nesbitt earlier in the meeting, when he suggested that the municipality should be striving to provide seasonal residents with good road access to their property, was in opposition to the township's official plan, which identifies areas of limited services.

Nesbitt said that under subdivision agreements, new roads in the community would have to be built by the developer, meeting MTC standards before being taken over by the township.

Council hopeful Bern Berry suggested that the limited services reference was being made in the zoning bylaw and concerned mainly lakefront properties.

Another questioner in the audience asked Reeve hopeful Gary Kenney what happened to a meeting that the council said it would attempt to arrange between a group of ratepayers, the council and CMHC. The suggestion of a meeting came following a protest over the subsidization of housing units in the community.

Kenney said the matter of the meeting had not been put aside by him, but that he was just a single member of council. He said the council felt they were not receiving adequate information from the federal agency. He said as reeve, he would quickly organize that meeting.

Deputy Reeve aspirant Ed Pergolas was asked if it was the municipality's intention to locate another senior citizen's apartment complex on the land adjacent to the arena or fairground.

Pergolas said the committee has not been looking for property for such a development. He added that the community's recreational plan indicated that the area adjacent to the arena would be suitable for the playground, now next to the municipal office.

Asked to explain why sidewalks had been built to the hospital along Bobcaygeon Road when little consideration was given to the drainage problems they created, councillor Gary Kenney said the council had felt the entrance ways to the community needed to be spruced up. He said the council has taken action to eliminate some of the drainage problems created by the action.

Lake accesses

Council hopeful Bern Berry was asked to comment on his stand concerning the sale of municipally owned lakefront property.

Berry told the gathering he felt there should be a park or public entrance to the water on each of the lakes in the municipality.

Council hopeful Verne Graham said the council should make a greater effort to secure better lakeshore property in any new subdivision undertakings.

Candidate for deputy reeve, Brendan Berube, suggested the council needed a policy which would identify the type of property it wanted on each lake for public access. He said once that has been established, adjacent property owners or potential purchasers will be aware of what is involved.

Asked to comment on what they would do to improve the operation of the roads department in the municipality, the two candidates for reeve responded. Gary Kenney described it by saying drastic times needed drastic measures. He said the roads had been ignored for the past seven years and claimed that the setting of municipal road policy had become a political activity rather than one of action. He said his comments in this paper earlier in the campaign were not meant to be an attack on any individual, "I think the council should sit down with the managers and work out a suitable program...Let's get politics out of the management end, that's my top priority for the next three years."

Sinc Nesbitt pointed out that Kenney had been a member of the roads committee for the past three years and claimed there wasn't much done. Nesbitt said he never used the newspaper or politics in attempting to get things done in the road department. He noted that when he served as reeve of this municipality he instituted a policy of hard topping three miles of roads each year, helping to reduce the maintenance budget. He said he was also able to secure additional funding from the province. "You had no right to put the road crew down," Nesbitt said.

The two candidates were also asked to explain what they would do to encourage the growth of small business in the community.

Kenney pointed to the development of the LEAD building on the Welch property in the core area. He said this would result in an additional 12 to 13 jobs in the community. He also noted that with Lyle McKnight he had attempted to attract small sized manufacturing businesses which might relocate to Minden.

Kenney said the municipality needed to establish an area for an industrial park. In addition, he suggested the council must use its funds to make the community more attractive to potential businesses. He pointed to the new sidewalks, the proposed lighting system for the core area and other matters as action the council could take to enhance the business climate in the community. "We must sell the positive aspects of the community," he concluded.

Sinc Nesbitt said he agreed with this stand and suggested the Industrial park be located on municipal property near the Scotch Line Landfill site. He also suggested that spreading the economic development throughout the three townships would be beneficial. "We should look beyond the village of Minden," he said.

(There were a number of other questions fielded by the candidates, however, we are unable to cover all aspects of the meeting.)

Man convicted of murder

A jury of eight men and four women has convicted a 20 year old resident of the Highland Crossroads group home near Harcourt with second degree murder. The man was charged following the discovery of the body of Linda Love, 24, July 20.

Colin McKenzie had been charged with first degree murder, however the jury found insufficient evidence to support that charge and instead found the man guilty of the lesser offence.

The trial was held in Lindsay October 22 with Mr. Justice T.P. Callon presiding.

Miss Love's body had been found in a shallow grave near the group home. Medical evidence showed that she had been struck on the head and her throat cut.

McKenzie is expected to be sentenced today (October 30.)

the past term, Johnson explained he had decided to run for the office of deputy-reeve, "Because I felt the chair had not been occupied enough," adding, "perhaps we are being too hard on you Elgin, but I feel we have to give full attention to the job."

The second candidate for the deputy-reeve position, Dale MacDonald, promised that if elected he would guarantee orderly development with the least cost to the taxpayers.

He spoke of the need for economic growth in the region to provide year round employment. From September to June the economy is stagnant, creating unemployment for young people. Frustration runs high and these people must turn to welfare or are forced to leave the area they have lived in all their lives, he said.

As a deputy-reeve he would have more bargaining power at county council to lobby other townships to bring in projects whether in the field of tourism, light industry or manufacturing, to provide employment. "Something has to be done to stimulate the economy," he commented.

In keeping with the speeches by the other candidates, MacDonald said he had missed only one regular meeting of council and had attended all committee meetings during his past term as councillor.

Four council hopefuls

Ann Barker, who has served on council for the past term was the first of the four candidates for councillor to speak.

Describing herself as an outspoken individual, she said she believed it important to speak out on relevant issues. She outlined several issues that were dealt with by Council in the past year, saying they were "very tiring and provoking." Barker appealed for tolerance and cooperation in settling differences even when people cannot agree entirely.

Decrying the lack of employment in the area, she recommended a county wide committee be established to initiate investment, possibly in the form of light industry, in the area. Jobs can be created to counteract the extremely high unemployment rate in the winter months without adversely affecting the beautiful environment.

"People have a right to live here," she commented.

Referring to the divisive issue of the airport development, Barker denied there had been any "skull duggery" involved in past land purchases to expand the airport, noting all purchases are on record and open to the public.

Addressing comments that the runway would be expanded to 4,000 feet and all trees in the area cut down, Barker pointed out that the proposed paved runway would be 60 feet shorter than the existing grass strip and that there were no plans to unnecessarily cut down trees.

Speaking of her past attendance record, Barker said she had missed only three regular meetings, once because of a vacation and twice because of an illness in the family, adding, "At times my family must take priority."

She promised, if elected, to always be available, and, "If I can't always agree with you 100%, I will always try to do the best."

Harrison returns

Commenting that he was well aware of the responsibilities of the councillor's job, Harrison summed up his past career as councillor from 1970-73, deputy-reeve from 1973-78, reeve from 1978-82 and county warden in 1979. During his term on county council he served on four committees and was an ex-officio member of all committees while serving as warden, he said.

He withdrew from public office to spend more time with his family but continued to serve on several committees including Staunworth Non-Profit Housing Corporation.

In spite of his three year absence, he said he could be an asset to the township and would endeavour to make Stanhope a good place to live, visit and work, he concluded.

Paul Harrison, the third candidate for one of the three councillor's seats, described himself as, "totally open, honest and at times outspoken." Born and raised in Carnarvon he worked in Toronto for many years before returning in 1980 to operate Happy Holiday Variety.

As a member of the Scenic 35 Association, he has been active in promoting the Highlands as a year round tourist destination, he said. Dealing with several specific issues, he expressed a need for council to give more notice of bylaw changes to promote more public input.

He expressed his appreciation for the efforts of the volunteer fire department and called for an upgrading of equipment.

He said there was a need for an official plan in the township, "but we must proceed with caution and get more public input."

He would recommend working with the MNR and other organizations regarding the control of water levels in the area lakes.

Harrison said there were still some unanswered questions regarding the airport development. Following weeks of discussion with area residents he remains openminded. "If it can be shown the airport development will benefit the township as a whole, I will support the project," he commented.

In conclusion he stated his major concern was unemployment. "We must seek every avenue of assistance to create jobs...there is no simple answer but the problem must be addressed and must be tackled by the County as a whole," he concluded.

C. Jock Mavor, the final candidate to speak, told his audience he had decided to seek office primarily because of the encouragement of his friends and neighbours. A seasonal resident for fourteen years, Mavor settled permanently in the township two years ago after retiring from his position as Chief Inspector with the Toronto Transit Commission.

He described himself as being well acquainted with business and administration, having been responsible for as many as 500 employees and budgets amounting to millions of dollars.

He is concerned with the quality of life of the residents of Stanhope, including the quality of air, water, the noise levels people are subjected to and population densities, he said. He promised, "to govern in accordance with, not in spite of, the voice of the people," adding, "It seems we have not been listening to the voice of the people."

If elected, he would provide good stewardship for the taxpayers dollars and would operate the municipality as efficiently as possible. "I do not have a magic wand to cure all the problems, but I will diligently apply myself and will listen very, very closely to the taxpayers."

Questions and answers

After a short break, the question and answer period began at 9:30.

With few exceptions the questions tended to be directed to current members of council and dealt with issues brought to Council in period since June.

Master of ceremonies, the municipality's clerk-treasurer, Gerald Bain reminded both the candidates and the ratepayers that the latter part of the meeting was a question and answer period and asked them to refrain from debating. Needless to say, he did have to remind the candidates of these rules of conduct during some of the more heated discussions.

David Balford opened the question period by introducing himself as a school teacher from Wawa and a cottager on Halls Lake who is responsible for a newsletter to 700 ratepayers. He asked Elgin Stouffer why he had submitted three nomination papers shortly before the deadline then had withdrawn forms for two positions next day, only minutes before the deadline for withdrawals.

Stouffer answered, "We were in the awkward position of having our most experienced councillors running for one seat. If it stayed that way, we were going to lose two of them."

for DEPUTY REEVE
in DYSART
November 12th

AND IN CONCLUSION:

Today, this municipality is in a better financial position than three years ago.

Increased efficiency in operation has permitted us to increase our programs and carry out new projects without increasing the tax rate more than the rate of inflation. In 1985 our increase was actually lower than the rate of inflation.

We must be leaders in the development of this municipality as an attractive and viable retirement area.

There is no doubt about its advantages; it creates jobs both in direct and allied services.

We have already received publicity from the C.B.C. on this type of concept.

Also, in the Minden core area, we require more new housing stock to allay the cost of our sewers which is running at less than 50% capacity.

As Deputy-reeve, I have attended approximately 100 meetings already this year in your interest as:

Chairman - Water & Sewers
Chairman - Planning Advisory Committee Chairman -

Parks Committee

Chairman - Budget & Finance thought by vacating my seat to councillor or the reeve's job, it would be fairest to the voters."

In discussions with ratepayers he had been encouraged without exception to seek the position of reeve, he said.

Explaining he had expected further telephone calls on Tuesday from residents offering advice, Stouffer said he had submitted three nomination forms the night before to allow him more time to discuss his plans and decide which position he would seek.

Balford expressed his dissatisfaction with the answer, then asked Dale MacDonald why he had, in like manner, submitted two nomination forms; one for councillor and one for deputy-reeve, then had withdrawn one form. MacDonald replied he had always intended to run for deputy-reeve and had declared his intentions in July, adding he had realized immediately he had submitted both forms, that he had made a silly mistake, but he had done so mainly to force Mr. Stouffer to make up his mind.

Elgin Stouffer found himself in the hot seat again when he asked why he felt he could devote time to the position of reeve when he had missed meetings during the past term.

Stouffer pointed out he had missed only three meetings in the past year. He explained that since his mill was destroyed in a fire, he had to change occupations and had taken a while to get back on his feet, "but now I can dedicate time to council."

Airport comments

Questions, answers and comments from both critics and proponents of the Stanhope Airport development dominated much of the latter half of the meeting.

Current members of Council were criticised for being hung up on spending taxpayers' money to upgrade the facility. Past deficits of at least $22,000 over the past three years and a predicted deficit of $12,000 - $15,000 per year after the development project is completed, were described as being a waste of money.

It was suggested by one ratepayer that the township would be further ahead if the airport property was divided up and sold as building lots.

Referring to assertions by several candidates that the development would make the airport safer, Art Wall, a member of the Maple Lake Cottagers' Association, commented, "Surely you can make the airport safe without spending a million dollars." He also asked why Council had turned down a request to include a plebiscite on airport development in the November election. A request for the plebiscite was contained in a petition presented to council in September by Curtis Eastmure.

Dale MacDonald was first to respond to the criticisms.

He noted that although he believed more people favoured the development than were opposed, he had been ready to support the request for a plebiscite but argued Eastmure had "gone too far" when he threatened to run a slate of candidates opposed to further development, if Council did not agree to hold the plebiscite.

MacDonald said he had been tired of being threatened, noting there had been previous threats to boycott his business because of his stand on the proposed trailer park on Halls Lake.

Under further questioning, later in the meeting, MacDonald admitted he had lost his temper and should have given more consideration to the 225 people who signed the petition. His statement was met with the response that he was not the only member of council to ignore the petition.

Ann Barker told the audience she had been willing to listen to concerns over the airport, but believed, "Council members should not have to be threatened or intimidated." She noted that when she first joined Council she could not see a need for further airport development but had come to realize the airport was needed and would benefit the township and the county.

"Every dollar we spend on the airport we will get in return," she commented. She agreed that over 200 people had signed the petition indicating their opposition to the development, but argued that many of the remaining 3500 ratepayers in the township were not aware of the whole picture and might vote against the proposed development without realizing what they were voting against.

She concluded by asking, "I would like to know how many people who signed the petition moved in after the airport was built," adding, "It is like buying a house. You cannot live in it all your life without making repairs."

Penny Googh suggested the airport be transferred to the county so that the costs could be shared by all townships, noting, "We have had a deficit of at least $5,000 each year."

Elgin Stouffer suggested this line of action several years ago and was asked during the meeting if he still supported the concept. He was also asked if he was in favour of extending the runway to the west which would necessitate closing Airport Road.

Stouffer said he believed it would be beneficial to the township if the airport was turned over to the county, stating, "It will take a load off Stanhope's back." Regarding the closure of the road and extension of the runway, Stouffer commented, "If the majority of the people wanted it that is what we would have to do," adding he believed the runway would probably be extended eventually.

Harry Davis pointed out the cottagers' associations had supported the planned development after being assured the airport runway would not be extended west of Airport Road. He said he had personally spoken to many residents within a quarter mile radius of the airport and had been encouraged by the limited negative response. He pointed out that all airports operate at a loss, but noted the cost of running the Stanhope airport is subsidized by the provincial and federal governments.

He disagreed with suggestions that the airport be transferred to the county, since County Council does not want to assume control. A number of ratepayers supported comments by the candidates that the airport would benefit the township. It was noted by Louise Watson and Derek Rolfe that many hours of volunteer work had gone into the facility over the past twenty years, and that the proposed upgrading of the runway and other facilities would continue to benefit the township.

Trailer park

The hottest issue before Council during the summer was the proposed trailer park on the north side of Halls Lake.

While the issue did not dominate the discussions on Saturday evening, there was evident dissatisfaction with Council's response to concerns of the residents of Halls Lake.

David Balford criticised council, and Dale MacDonald in particular, for overreacting to some of the more vocal opponents of the park and ignoring the majority of the residents who expressed concerns over the effect the park would have on the area. "We demonstrated that 400 people were against the park. We want a commitment from the next council that it will listen to large groups."

In response, Dale MacDonald said that he had personally been against the development at that location, but could not go against the township's zoning bylaw. He said there was no evidence that the zoning on the land was wrong and that the developer had met all the other regulations, and should therefore be allowed to proceed.

He said he could not predict the impact the park would have on the lake but had reason to believe it would not be as serious as many people have predicted.

Ann Barker pointed out the residents of the lake had been invited to attend council, "We have never told anyone we wouldn't listen," she commented.

While many of the questions dealt with council members' past records, two candidates were asked to describe their vision of future development. Harry Davis noted the present Council has always made a strong effort to acquire government grants for work projects and has been able to hire as many as thirty employees at various times. If elected, he would continue to make concerted efforts to acquire grants, he said.

In terms of his long term dreams, Davis said he would like to see a new township office built near the library and hoped that one day a development similar to Santa's Village could be attracted to the township. "It would take entrepreneurs to do it but it would greatly benefit the area by providing needed employment," he commented. He also confirmed he would honour his previous commitments to the airport development.

Jock Mavor was asked how he would fight unemployment in the township. Mavor replied, "As far as the summer goes we are working to our absolute peak," but efforts must be made to stimulate winter programs. "We need to promote our ski trails and snowmobile trails more than we have in the past," he commented.

With the exception of light industry that sells products to the local market, Mavor said industrial projects cannot be initiated in this area because of the costs of transporting good to the large urban market.

Interest began to wain by 10:30 and by the time the inevitable question on taxation came up a quarter of the audience had left. The candidates were asked why Stanhope Township taxes were double those of Dysart et al.

Clerk-Treasurer Gerald Bain gave the candidates a break by answering the question. He explained that while Stanhope's taxes are a third more than Dysart's, the municipality's share of the overall taxes is less. The county levy and Board of Education levy account for the higher rate, he explained, and suggested Stanhope is possibly paying more than its share of these levies. He noted Council has had these payments reduced in past years.

Following a question on the St. Peter's Bridge (Council has approved a study on the deteriorating bridge and it is expected the structure will be replaced in the near future) the master of ceremonies adjourned the meeting.

Vasey, Home, Rockcliffe - win

The Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League opened their season with a full slate of games at Minden arena on Monday, October 28.

Beginning this year, all six teams will be playing on Monday night. Previously two games were held on Monday and the third game of the weekly schedule was held on Thursday evening.

Vasey Real Estate won the first game of the regular season beating The Times 15-9.

Home Hardware took the second game against Hall's Insurance by a score of 8-5.

The Rockcliffe Foamblowers picked up their first win of the season defeating Hartwick Construction 11-3.

The first matchup of the evening remained close until the third period when Vasey exploded for 8 goals. Times responded with three markers in the final period but were unable to keep up to the Vasey barrage. Eldon Bull was the top marksman for the winners with five goals and three assists. Jim McKelvey contributed a hat trick and three assists and Brian Shaw knocked in three goals and assisted on two.

Other goalscorers were Barry Walker, a goal and five assists, Lou Reynolds a goal and a pair of assists, Carl Northey a goal and an assist and Dave Dollo with a single goal. Dan Read helped out the winners with six assists and Kim Hamilton assisted on three goals.

Jerry Campbell was the top player on the ice for The Times scoring a hat trick and assisting on two. Sid MacKeigan knocked in two goals and assisted on two. Jim Carrell, Barry Shaw and Jim Keetch racked up a goal and two assists each. Dennis Wilson scored a single and Ted Vasey added an assist.

Home wins

The three unanswered goals scored by Home Hardware in the second period made the difference as they went on the defeat Hall's, Insurance 8-5.

The teams remained tied at two goals apiece at the end of the first period. Home added three more in the second then the teams traded three goals apiece in the third period to give Home their first win of the season.

Larry Sawyer led the way fro Home with a hat trick and an assist. Dave Hartwick knocked in a pair and assisted on four goals. Other goalscorers included John Dettman with a pair and Harold Cowen with a single. Assists went to Dean Hewitt with three and Doug McNab with a pair. John Barkwell was the top gun for Hall's scoring three goals and adding a pair of assists. Kevin Webb with a goal and an assist and Lawrence Loughed with a single goal capped off the scoring.

Andy Campbell, Neil Hutchinson and Bern Berry added single assists.

Short players

A shortage of players on the Hartwick Construction loss to the Rockcliffe Foamblowers.

The Blowers led 2-0 after one period, 3-1 after the second period then skated away with the game scoring eight markers in the final frame to clinch an 11-3 victory.

Joe Giles was the top player for the Blowers with three goals and a pair of assists. Colin Wilson also had a big game scoring a hat trick and adding an assist. Other pointgetters were Dave Brown, two goals and two assists, Al Stender a goal and four assists, Dave Crego a goal and an assist, Bart Hilhorst a single goal and Jim Todd one assist.

Kevin Hamilton scored all three goals for Hartwick with assists from Steve Crowe, Greg Carpenter and Ken Casey.

The schedule resumes on Monday, November 4, with the first game being played at 7 p.m. in the Minden arena. There is no admission charge to the games.

ALL-CANDIDATES-NIGHT SPEECH

Thank you Mr. Chairman and good evening ladies, gentlemen, and fellow candidates. Four minutes is not a long time but I would like to talk about a few things. First, on the lighter side, I will point out that I do own a suit and tie. There are some close friends in the audience tonight who I am sure think that if they look in the dictionary under the word "cover alle" they will find a picture of Gary Kenney. It was not always that way. Rosemary and I chose about ten years ago to move to the Highlands to build our first house and raise our family. I use my hands a lot more now to earn a living than I did then ... I'm a log home builder by trade and as well operate a small specialty mail-order tool catalogue for woodworkers from across Canada and the U.S.A. Those of you who have visited our farm in Blairhampton know the enjoyment I get from working with my hands. But I get just as much satisfaction, more actually, from working with others on community projects. I'm extremely proud, for instance, to have been part of the founding volunteers organized by Pat Balcombe, Robin Bailey, Jack Brezina, Val and Steve Loughed to bring to our Townships three such new and worthwhile activities as the Minden Canada Day Family Picnic, The National Ride For Sight, and The Minden Sled Dog Derby.

I know that when I get involved in things I tend to be very candid. That's probably a holdover from a proud and determined Irish grandfather who settled in northern Ontario at the turn of the century. You see, in our family, we are taught very early to say what you believe, and believe what you say. I've been lucky with that. Just about everyone I have had the pleasure to work with in business, politics and the community have been confident enough of themselves to realize my frankness is no threat to them. Instead they know it's only a way to get constructive results through honest and open conversation. Unfortunately though there are some who are uncomfortable with that kind of approach and I recognize that if I am honoured to serve as Reeve I will have to be more sensitive to them.

Though I have heard other candidates call me inexperienced and naive during this campaign, I will not trade my frankness and openness for what some admire as political foxiness. I will continue to believe that our Reeve should set a pace for Council that is openly ambitious and optimistic for the future. One that works with genuine enthusiasm and energy for that future. Certainly being Reeve will be a new experience for me. And just as certainly I will be learning new ropes as I go along. That sort of thing has been normal for Rosemary and I. We both thrive on responsibility and challenge.

I remember being told thirteen years ago that I did not have the experience to tackle a new position. I was twenty-six and determined to prove myself in the international field of industrial process equipment. I eventually won the opportunity to show what I could do for the smallest company in the field and immediately was forced to deal with situations that involved professionals, politicians, and administrators alike. When I retired from the organization so that we could move to the Highlands, I had become marketing manager, then owner of their only sales agency, and FABCO Ltd. was the largest in Canada in their field with additional offices in Edmonton and Vancouver. I mention this because I think it is important to demonstrate that I have already had to work at a level at least equivalent to that required by our Reeve. Access to upper governments and cooperation with my peers has never failed me in the past, brash though I may seem to some people.

The point is that both Rosemary and I have prepared ourselves for new responsibilities and challenges. I stress the "we" because we are a team and rely heavily upon supporting one another in our work. We try never to underestimate our need to learn something new. That's homework. Like the municipal clerk's course I took at Seneca College in 1982. Or my current registration in Public Administration courses at Guelph University.

Experience is certainly a factor in choosing your elected representatives. And I have solid experience to offer. But so is commitment. Choosing to run for Reeve has not been a last minute decision for me. I can be no more open and sincere about my hopes for the future of our Townships than I have been for the past ten weeks.

Thank you for listening, good night, and good luck to us all.

Bike scramble this weekend

The top motorcycle enduro riders in the country will be taking part in the Burnt River National Hare Scramble near Kinmount on Sunday, November 3.

Among those taking part in the CMA sanctioned event, will be Ross "Rollerball" Peterson, the number one motocross rider in Canada, Blair Sharpless, a two time winner of the Corduroy Enduro and Guy Parret and Barry Rumpell of Kamloops B.C., who won silver medals at the International Six Day Trials event held in September in Spain.

Former Haliburton resident, Dave "Winky" Dodd will also be racing this weekend, fresh from his win at the Terra Nova Enduro in Orangeville last week.

Murray Beetlestone of Minden, who rode to an impressive first finish in his class at the 1985 Corduroy Enduro will also be competing for the Can-Am Team along with John Martin, the top Can-Am rider in the United States.

The event begins at noon and is expected to last for two hours as the riders challenge the ten kilometre off road circuit. The manufacturers of Can-Am, KTM and Husqvarna motorcycles will be displaying their 1986 lineup.

Qualified drivers who provide their own riding gear, will be able to test drive the 1986 Can-Am bikes.

To get to the track, drive south on Highway 121 to the Crystal Lake Road. Turn right (west) and follow the arrows.

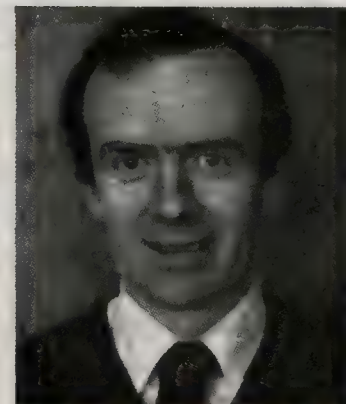

Last weekend Harry went a little overboard.

Harry always was the life of the party — even when it took to the water. Now Harry's one of the 500,000 boaters who have accidents involving alcohol each year. So, when you take to the water, leave the alcohol behind. Have a nice weekend — lots of them.

Redmen take championship

In what had to be one of the most exciting finishes to a soccer game, the HHSS Redmen captured the Kawartha West title Wednesday in Haliburton. The game, against I.E. Weldon of Lindsay, ended in a 1-1 draw. The teams moved to two ten minute periods of overtime, and were still unable to break the deadlock.

Finally, five of the best kickers on each squad faced the opposition's goalie in a shoot-out. The two teams were still tied with one more player, Redmen centre, John Vanderhorst, left to kick. His well-placed shot eluded the Lindsay netminder, giving the Haliburton team the Kawartha West title for the third year in a row.

The only Redmen goal during regulation play was scored by Paul Milne. He managed to beat the goalie after the team was awarded a penalty shot. The goal forced the game into the overtime periods and the shoot-out.

Scoring during the shoot-out competition were Paul Milne, Lasse Roslind, Lennie Johnston and John Vanderhorst.

The team now travels to Peterborough where it will compete in a regional final.

Redmen left winger, Lasse Roslind, keeps control of the ball as he threads his way down the sidelines during the championship game Wednesday in Haliburton. The local team captured the Kawartha West Cup by defeating the visitors in a tie-breaking "shoot-out".

Juveniles win opener

The Minden Monarch Juveniles kicked off the new season on a winning note Friday night with a 5-2 victory over Baltimore at Minden Arena.

The season opener was far from being a classic confrontation and was marred by penalties but the home team prevailed to record their first win of the season.

Most of the players who took the team to the Ontario "DD" championship last year have returned, with the exception of Tim Wood, Shayne Yateman and Chris Laporte.

Joining the team this year are rookies John Wells, Scott Burgess and Bill Whittaker.

Boomer Stamp opened the scoring half way through the first period on a pass from Bernie Upton. Baltimore evened the score with a minute left in the period. Scot Hamilton put the Monarchs ahead again early in the second period with assists from Gord Wood and Daryl Ward.

Captain Jeff Howe increased the lead two minutes later after taking a pass from Lenny Johnston and Boomer Stamp. A minute later Baltimore narrowed the gap but the goal proved to be their last of the game.

Scot Hamilton notched his second goal on a pass from Boomer and Lenny Johnston added an unassisted goal to put the game out of reach.

Referee Claude Parish had a busy night handing out 28 minutes in penalties to the Monarchs and 56 minutes including a major misconduct to Baltimore.

The second game of the season will be played at Minden arena on Friday November 1.

The Monarchs will be hosting Omemee beginning at 8 p.m.

The Baltimore goalie watches as the puck flips by the net during second period action in the opening game of the Minden Monarch Juvenile season. The Juveniles captured an opening night victory by defeating their guests 5-2.

Two for Bantams

submitted

The Haliburton Bantams travelled to Warsaw last Thursday where they played an excellent game against the Peterborough Petes major bantam 'AAA' club. The final score was 7-6 in favour of the Pete's but despite their win, they appeared disappointed in being pressed to the wire by the Haliburton 'DD' team.

Despite the size and being outnumbered by the Pete's the Haliburton boys scored the first goal after only one minute and 23 seconds of the first period. Jeff Francis poked in a rebound assisted by Scott Russell and Erin Nicholls. The Petes had countless chances in the remaining minutes of the first period, but were shut down by goaltender Gavin McKnight.

The Haliburton players had several good chances in the first period only to be stymied by some excellent saves by the Petes goaltender.

The Petes however went on to score 4 unanswered goals in a short time frame before the Haliburton team replied with three in a row to end the second period with a 4-4 tie.

Scoring for Haliburton were: Erin Nicholls from Ron Perrin; Erin Nicholls from Ted Paish; Scott

Russell from Erin Nicholls.

The Huskies took a 5-4 lead at 12:48 of the third period on a goal by Drew Mitchell assisted by Scott Russell and Erin Nicholls. The Petes then took advantage of the tired Huskies team and scored 3 more goals in a row to take the lead 7-5.

Undaunted, Haliburton scored again on an unassisted goal by Erin Nicholls. The Huskies then pressured the Pete's for the remainder of the game, but were unable to get the equalizer.

The Huskies had 4 penalties in the game and the Pete's had 6. The referees did an excellent job and it made for an exciting back and forth game.

Jeff Francis, Darren Byers and Jeff Warburton played very good positional hockey and shutdown numerous Petes offensive drives. The defensive unit of Scott Nesbitt, Ron Perrin and Drew Mitchell played extremely well as did the forward line of Nicholls, Russell and Paish. Gavin McKnight provided strong goaltending in a wide open game.

Defeat Fenelon

On Friday night the Bantams entertained Fenelon Falls at home and won 8-7.

Despite receiving 38 minutes in penalties to Fenelon's 16, the Huskies persevered throughout to ensure the win.

Scoring for Haliburton were: Erin Nicholls, five goals, one assist; Scott Nesbitt, two goals, one assist; Drew Mitchell one goal, one assist; Scott Russell two assists; Jeff Francis two assists; Ted Paish one assist; Jeff Warburton two assists and Ron Perrin one assist.

Gavin McKnight played a strong game in the Haliburton net as Haliburton played most of the game with players in the penalty box.

The bantams play their next game this Friday, November 1 in Haliburton at 8:30 p.m. when they take on the Little Britain bantams. See you there.

THANK YOU

My sincere thanks to the people of Lutterworth for letting me be your Reeve once again. As always I will do my best for everyone.

FIRST YEAR

OCTOBER 23RD

THE DAY TO START YOUR PLAN FOR THE FUTURE.

Wednesday, October 23rd. It's the day the 1985/86 Canada Savings Bonds go on sale. As always, they're one of the very best ways to invest for your future.

For the interest

The new Canada Savings Bonds earn 8¹/₂% interest the first year. Plus a guaranteed minimum rate of at least 6¹/₂% for the next six years to maturity.

The 8¹/₂% rate will also apply from November 1st for the coming year to the last three series of Canada Savings Bonds: Series 37 (issued in 1982), Series 38 (1983) and Series 39 (1984).

All other outstanding series (32, 34, 35 and 36) will earn their previously guaranteed minimum of 10¹/₂%.

For the security

Canada Savings Bonds are guaranteed by the Government of Canada.

They're a no-risk investment that can be purchased for as little as $100 or up to a maximum of $75,000. (If you purchase the $100 denomination, however, there is a limit of five per application.)

For the cashability

Unlike a lot of other savings plans or investments, you're never locked in with Canada Savings Bonds. You're free to cash them in at any time—with no interest penalty after December 31, 1985.

For the convenience

Choose Regular Interest Bonds, which pay you interest annually by cheque or direct deposit to your account, or Compound Interest Bonds, which automatically re-invest your interest so your savings continue to grow. You can buy both types wherever you bank or invest until November 8, 1985 without paying accrued interest. But remember, the bonds may be withdrawn from sale at any time.

You can also purchase your Canada Savings Bonds by instalment either where you bank or invest, or at work on the Payroll Savings Plan.

Now's the time to re-invest

Check the bonds you already own. Series 28 (1973), 31 (1976) and 33 (1978) mature this year and will not earn any further interest. If you hold Series 28, you'll be entitled to a maturity cash bonus of $482.70 for each $1,000 bond. For Series 31, you'll receive a maturity cash bonus of $356.90 per $1,000 bond. To keep your money working, you can re-invest up to the face value of your maturing bonds in the new series in addition to the $75,000 limit. But you have only a short time to re-invest in this year's Canada Savings Bonds.

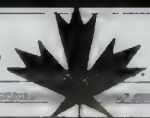

You'll find complete details about the bonds you already own and this year's issue in the Canada Savings Bonds Fact Sheet. Pick one up wherever you bank or invest.

Branch 129

by Gerald Irish

The Legion "Duffers" golf season is now over. Congratulations to the winners, Murray Douglas and Jack DeYoung. Thanks must go to Comrade Jim Hobson for organizing the tournament.

Drop into your Legion soon and take a look at the new carpeting, new furnishings and plants in the main foyer. Renovations and refurbishing are also continuing in the club room.

Don't forget the Halloween Costume Dance on Friday night November 1 in the Legion Club room and the Hunter's Ball in the Legion auditorium on Friday, November 8.

Mr. Krisjansen, general manager of the Ontario Army Cadet League, will be here on November 5 for the inspection of our prospective officers and our facilities. Watch for announcements about cadets. We should soon be underway.

Joan and I had the privilege of being invited to attend the Ladies Auxiliary honours and awards dinner and dance on Friday evening, October 25. Other guests were Zone Commander F4 Mel Robertson, Bill Scott, M.P., and Murray Fearrey, Reeve Dysart et al. Phyllis Montenegro, Ontario 3rd V.P. & F4 Ladies Auxiliary Zone Commander Gwen Cox. The guest speaker was L.A. President, Ontario Command, Gloria Sanford.

Some of the Branch 129 Ladies Auxiliary members honoured were Elsie Watson, Verna Macdonald, Joan Hobson and two very special ladies who are the newest members of the over eighty club, Ethel Brennan and Myrtle Davies.

The meal was prepared by Janet and Jim Tice and their helpers and served by the Branch 129 members.

On Sunday, October 27, 34 legionnaires and friends went to a service of Remembrance at Brechin. It was a lovely autumn day and the parade and service was beautiful. The wind whipping the many flags of the colour party and the proud legionnaires marching behind the skirl of the pipes of the village pipe band created an impressive sight.

At our Remembrance Day dinner we will also have an honours and award ceremony. If anyone is entitled to year pins, please get in touch with Comrade Mabel Brannigan.

While I was researching materials for an address, I will be giving at the J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary school on Remembrance Day, I came across this passage written by Albert Camus. This quote really made me think about Remembrance Day and the quest for peace.

"Probably every generation sees itself as charged with remaking the world. Mine, however knows it will not remake the world. Its task is even greater: To keep the world from destroying itself."

Think about Remembrance Day.

Dear readers. We are starting this letter on this 20 October day to tell you what is happening here in what we are about to say. The world is changing so fast and so are the people too, we would like to tell you of just a few.

Lilly Hogg who really is a card, checks her weight on the scales almost every day. Then there's Edna Cowan who has decided to change her ways and stay home for 3 or 4 days. Then there is Millie Wood, since she has quit smoking she is looking good.

Lots of activity over the weekend, some coming to visit relatives or to visit others. We see Bill Johnson here to visit his mother. Ina McGuire has family come to visit her and her son Murray sometimes comes and takes his mother up to his home on the shores of Halls Lake. Mrs. Eastman always has company and so do many others coming to visit mothers or brothers. Teddy Carr's daughter and husband who live down Pickering way, came to take her father for a drive up around Dorset on Saturday. We were pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cobb come to visit us. They were our neighbours when we lived down that way.

We watched interesting movies over the weekend to keep us entertained. Sunday morning Raymond Oliver came to Hyland Crest, but here he did not tarry. Wheeled his mother out and whisked her away up to Barrie.

Interesting service in the chapel Sunday night when both the Burgess's and Thompsons are there everything is always just right.

It is good to have Doris Robertson back with us again after a week's holiday, she was disappointed in her trip down Virginia way where she didn't win a nickel, she spent the rest of her holidays making cucumber and tomato pickles.

Arnie Wright is also back from a week of holidays. She said she saw many moose while she was away.

Our sympathy here we would like to convey to all the family and relatives of Ada Shorter who has just passed away.

We have a new resident who came to live in our lovely Home, Mrs. Grace Barnes. We welcome Mrs. Barnes. We hope you will like it here and never more need to roam.

On the weekend Harold Hogg did something really good, went over to his aunt's, Rita McNeil, and split some wood.

Tuesday morning Rev. John Smith of Haliburton Baptist church came to us on this 22nd October day. Brought us a very inspiring message. We would like to thank him for coming and Fred Ballard the music to play.

Tuesday afternoon our girls took us for a bus ride, which was just fine. It was good to get out and get some fresh air and have an enjoyable time. We miss Harry and Jean Cowan on these bus trips. Also Mrs. Gilbank. We have Harry in the hospital, but is gaining every day for which we all give thanks. We enjoyed the trip very much and we would just like to say a big thank you to our girls for taking us today.

Down at fun and fitness playing horseshoes on a mat on the gym floor, Teddy Carr made a perfect score.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of Lutterworth Estates brought and served a lovely lunch which was really great, then one of the ladies, we didn't get her name, she surely knew how to clown around, she was quite game. We had another couple who seemed rather shy, but got up and danced to the tune of Coming Through The Rye. Then Doris read to us again from 4:00 until 5:00 to all who came to hear.

Both Joan Kernohan and Helen Lee are on a week's holiday. The rest of the cleaners must work a little harder to keep this place shining, they work away day after day, we don't hear any whining.

Our sympathy to the family and relatives we would like to say, of Mrs. Evelyn Robertson who was a resident here and just passed away.

Our entertainers came Friday, Grace to lead us in a sing-a-long, Florence Robinson the music to play. Grace always has some humorous poems and sings a few numbers for us which we really enjoy, and it was nice to have Florence back with us again.

Try to keep things in perspective

Fifty years from now, kids in history classes will be yawning over what panics us today.

What about laxatives?

"From time to time I feel constipated. I don't want to become dependent on laxatives, so I keep changing brands. Will this help?"

Not really. What you need to do is to make sure you have regular bowel habits — without the use of laxatives.

Normal bowel habits vary greatly from one person to another and can range from 3 bowel movements a day to 3 a week. You are in the best position to know when your schedule is off for some reason.

Occasional constipation may be caused by travel, emotional stress, or an upset in your normal, daily routine — for example, not drinking enough liquids. It can be safely relieved with a laxative.

Chronic constipation is different. The problem will not go away overnight. It requires a change in lifestyle.

If chronic constipation is your problem, consult your doctor. You will need a high-fibre diet, an exercise program, and a scheduled phase-out of laxative use while you reestablish better bowel habits. Most people need to drink at least 8 to 10 glasses of fluids a day under any circumstance.

Laxative products are often overused or abused. This can lead to a dependence upon the laxative. Although many people do not realize it, laxative overuse can lead to chronic constipation. In severe cases, damage to the intestinal tract can occur.

Laxatives are classified as bulk-forming agents, stool-softeners, hyperosmotics, lubricants, or contact laxatives.

Bulk-forming laxatives are among the safest. They increase bulk in the intestines much like high fibre foods do. Metamucil® and Siblin® are examples of bulk-forming agents. They take up to 3 days to become fully effective. Be sure to drink plenty of fluids.

Stool-softeners, such as Colace®, soften dry, hard fecal masses. They work within 24 to 48 hours. Again, drink plenty of fluids.

Hyperosmotics encourage bowel movements by drawing water into the bowel from the surrounding body tissues. Citromag® and epsom salts are familiar examples.

Mineral oil is a lubricant. Frequent use of this product has adverse effects because it can hinder the normal absorption of nutrients and vitamins into your system.

Contact laxatives stimulate the muscle contractions that move along the fecal mass. These laxatives are the most likely to produce adverse effects. Ex-Lax®, Feen-A-Mint®, castor oil are examples of this type.

For occasional constipation your pharmacist will help you choose an appropriate laxative; for chronic constipation contact your doctor.

On Thursday, October 24 at 1:30, the euchre games started at St. Paul's Parish Hall. A good crowd attended and the winners for the afternoon were - most lone hands Orval Francis, highs - Marg McAfee, Esther Lee (men) and Ida Holmes, Charlotte O'Neill (men). Father George came in to make the gang welcome and hopefully the games will take place on the main floor this week.

Two car loads of members attended the Victoria East District W.I. craft bake day at Fenelon Falls United Church last Wednesday, October 23. Mrs. M. Bunker and Mrs. C. Wilson demonstrating the making of stump dolls were among the many ladies demonstrating their skills.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Robinson of Lindsay.

Club 35 card party winners Monday evening were - most lone hands Ralph Schad, high lady was Jean Penick and high man Murray Daniels. The door prize was awarded to Lodi Mestroni while the other winners were Mary Stevenson, Wally Harpur and Bill Cowen.

Time again for Hyland Crest annual Christmas Tea and Bazaar which will be held Wednesday, November 6 from 2 to 4 p.m. Tea and goodies will cost only $2. Take this opportunity to visit old friends at Hyland Crest and get a few more items for your Christmas list.

Minden and District Horticultural Society is sponsoring a talk by Nancy Lee-Colibaba of the Royal Botanical Gardens in Hamilton entitled "Planting to attract birds." The event will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, November 5 in the Municipal Building in Minden and everyone is welcome to attend.

Two all candidates meetings were held Saturday evening - here in Minden and also for Stanhope voters. We understand there were good turnouts at both meetings and that all the candidates made a good showing.

Also on Saturday evening, many friends and relatives attended the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School annual Honours and Awards Banquet. There was over $10,000 awarded in prizes and scholarships to our young people. Our sincere congratulations to all the winners and may we say we are very proud of the excellence shown by not only the students, but the teachers. Well done all.

Friday November 8, free movies for children at the Library/Cultural Centre from 7:15 to 8:15. Admission is free.

Congratulations to Al and Ann Bibby, Mr. and Mrs. R. Young and Mr. & Mrs. G. Lazier on the birth of their grandson Matthew Eben. Matthew's parents are Kelly and Jane (Bibby) Young.

If you have any old scout uniforms that are just taking up space in a closet or drawer, please think of donating them to the scout movement in Minden. They would appreciate receiving any you might have. Please call 286-1180 for more information.

Congratulations to Mrs. Eleanor Gilligan of Minden on winning the draw for an afghan sponsored by the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden. The afghan was made by Mrs. Siiri Mielonen and donated by her to the Gallery.

Sincere sympathy to the family and friends of the late Evelyn Maria Robertson who passed away recently.

You know, for any alcohol or drug-related problems you might be having, there is a free, confidential service in the area. If you wish further information or seek an appointment, please call HADEC 457-1661.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off in the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: What do demons have that no one else does?

A: Baby demons.

Q: What animal is a cannibal?

A: A cow, because she eats her fodder.

Q: Show do you know that S is a scary letter?

A: It makes cream scream.

Q: What is alive and has only one foot?

A: A leg.

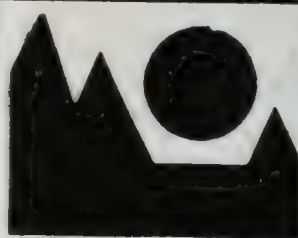

Q: Why did Danny Demon wear a purple and green belt?

A: To keep his pants up.
